Formal Matters

In view of new prior art found by the examiner, the finality of the Office action of 19 June 2006 is withdrawn and prosecution is reopened.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 3 depends from canceled claim 2. Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kotliar (5,974,222). Kotliar discloses an apparatus comprising:

a pressurized air source (part of a conventional refrigeration system);
a framework of inflatable tubes (12 and 13) in fluid connection with the pressurized air source;

Art Unit: 3739

a patient-enclosing air tent (11) mounted on the framework of inflatable tubes, the inflatable tubes being operable, when inflated, to support the air tent above the patient;

an air-cooling system (part of a conventional refrigeration system) to provide cold air to the interior of the patient-enclosing air tent, the cold air to affect a core temperature of the patient; and an outlet connected to the air-cooling system for re-circulating air from the air tent back to the air-cooling system to conserve energy (col. 1, line 61-col. 2, line 32).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 9 and 22-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kotliar in view of Heck et al. (5,097,548). Kotliar discloses all elements of the invention except that the air-tent is sized to enclose at least a portion of the patient except a head portion. But, Heck et al. discloses a similar air tent for cooling a patient which is sized to enclose at least a portion of the patient except a head portion and having an outlet to the air-cooling system for re-circulating air from the tent back to the air-cooling system (Figure 1 and col. 4, line 59-col. 5, line 7 and col. 9, lines 8-34).

Art Unit: 3739

Therefore, at the time of the invention it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the device of Kotliar, as taught by Heck et al., to provide a modified air tent to not enclose the head of the patient as required by the specific treatment and to have the ability to re-circulate air from the tent back to the air-cooling system.

Further to claim 9, the examiner maintains that it would have been obvious to a skillful artisan to provide the necessary inflatable connectors to releasably secure the framework in the closed position.

Further to claims 3 and 23, the examiner maintains that it would have been obvious to a skillful artisan to provide the re-circulation from the air tent back to the air-cooling system via a coaxial hose because this configuration is well known in the art to provide a mechanically efficient configuration and to provide pre-cooling of the returning air resulting in an overall cooling efficiency.

Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kotliar in view of Tomic-Edgar et al. (6,245,096). Kotliar fails to disclose a plurality of transparent windows in the tent. However, Tomic-Edgar et al. disclose a thermal cover for delivering fluid to a patient wherein the canopy has transparent windows to permit observation of the patient as required (Figure 6 and col. 2, lines 18-51). Therefore, at the time of the invention it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the device of Kotliar, as taught by Tomic-Edgar et al, to permit observation of the patient during the procedure.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 21 is allowed.

Claims 4-8, 10-13 and 16-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

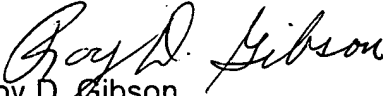

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Wayman (4,736,762) discloses an anti-contamination system with inflatable supports of a tent like structure what contains multiple windows (27)
